

Adele Hugo: La Miserable

When Victor Hugo died in 1885, the world was shocked to discover that he had a lone survivor: his daughter Adele, incarcerated in an asylum for insane gentlewomen. Adele Hugo was an accomplished, intelligent, and ambitious young woman whose potential shrank with every year she spent under her tyrannical fathers roof. At thirty-three, she fell desperately in love with an English soldier who quickly lost interest in everything about her except her money. Her obsession with him proved her undoing. In Adele Hugo: La Miserable, Leslie Smith Dow recounts Adeles nine-year pursuit of her unwilling lover from Guernsey to Halifax to Barbados, her return to her fathers sphere by a former slave, and the progressive schizophrenia that finally incapacitated her. Smith Dow bases Adeles stranger-than-fiction history on her bizarre diaries, her familys letters, and the testimony of eyewitnesses. In this new ebook-only edition, Leslie Smith Dow updates the saga of Adele Hugo with the fascinating mystery of a painting attributed to the Impressionist master Edouard Manet. This painting came to light in an online auction around 2004. After the purchaser contacted Smith Dow for her opinion, the author and the paintings new owner set out to determine whether the subject of the painting was Adele Hugo, and whether it was indeed painted by Manet. Smith Dows new afterword recounts their sleuthing in dramatic style.
