

Jack the Ripper - A Killer Slips Not

During the Autumn of 1888, the lonely old streets of Whitechapel had just then become left barren after the recent murder of Mary Ann Nichols, another downtrodden prostitute found to have been left mutilated with her throat slashed in Bucks Row. And it hadn't of been long after that, that the newspapers had just then begun to have ran hot off the press and that the kidney of Catherine Eddowes, along with a letter entitled From Hell, had just then been mailed on over to George Lusk, the President of the Whitechapel Vigilance Committee, along with a new and startling revelation in the case revealing the true identity of Jack The Ripper!
