

I Aint In Kansas No More!: This Cant Be God.... It Feels Too Real !!

Most Christians come to sink your boat, not to help it float! It has been said that life is an unending journey. This is the telling of one mans life journey, not yet ended. The serendipity at times and the divinity through it all, which brought him to the various monuments and places of his life. The people he has met along the way and their influences, negative and positive, on the progress of his journey. This is the telling of faith, in the veracity of visions given to men, through the work of the Holy Spirit, in particular one vision. It is a tale of the devotion and dedication required to bring a vision once given, and accepted into fruition, and the many miracles large and small which happened along the way.
